Bad Heart to Keep Seely Out of Line-Up This Year

Raber Seely, Berwick, veteran tackle of Hen Bream's Orange and Blue Bullets, will not wear the colors of G-burg on the gridiron this season, according to reliable information received by The Gettysburg Times today.

Seely, a mainstay of the Bullets for two years, and a tower of defense in the forward wall of the Gettysburgians, will not be permitted to play by his physician. He was recently examined by a heart specialist who ordered the 200-pound lineman to remain away from the field for at least two weeks. At the expiration of this time Seely will return for another examination.

It is practically certain that the Berwick star will not be permitted to don the cleated shoes and moleskins this year, or any other year. His physical condition is perfect with the exception of his heart, the result of a serious illness last spring.

Shortly before the close of college last May Seely was in the Annie M. Warner hospital, almost at the point of death. His physicians were doubtful of his recovery and on several occasions he was not expected to survive. However, the veteran football player, rallied under the ministrations of local physicians and he was soon able to leave the hospital

Throughout the summer months he was under the care of a physician, spending most of his time in the mountains and he rallied to regain his lost weight and health. His heart condition has improved considerably but The Times learns that physicians will not permit him to engage in athletic competition fearing a recurrence of his ailment of a year ago.

The loss of Seely is a bad blow to the Bream-coached Bullets. Seely was depended upon to fill a big gap in the Bullet line. His two years' experience and his natural football ability made him a valuable asset to the G-burg squad.

FLAYS HOOVER AND OUTLINES RELIEF PLANS

C. W. Schick Says He Believes President Is Not "Wholly American.'

PUT UNEMPLOYED IN CANTONMENTS

President Hoover was flayed and a plan of relief for the nation's unemployed was outlined by Charles W. Schick, of Chicago, formerly of Gettysburg, in an address at a special meeting of the Albert J. Lentz post here, Friday evening.

The president was criticized by Mr. Schick for allowing other nations to dictate to the United States on armament reductions while foreign countries are increasing their armies and navies and for helping other countries in their present economic difficulties instead of lending similar aid to pressing economic problems at home.

"I honor and respect Mr. Hoover because I am an American and he is my president," the speaker said, "but when this country lends aid to foreign countries by the billions of dollars and then refuses to grant the ex-soldiers the small bonus due them, I am ready to believe that our president is not wholly American."

Mr. Schick, a former state commander of the Illinois legion, is en route to Washington for a conference with President Hoover on unemployment, and the plan he will suggest, one sponsored by the American legion, will be among those outlined for the president next week by bankers, manufacturers and other business interests.

Enlist for Depression

Briefly stated, Mr. Schick said his plan calls for the opening of every army cantonment, naval and marine station, aeronautical school and every other branch of the service and allow the unemployed to enlist "for the period of depression."

"After they enlist and are uniformed, put the men to work on roads, harbors, buildings and other permanent public projects, paying them wages which the men can send back to their families to tide them over this depression," he added. "By doing this, you will keep the unemployed from attending meetings of communists, socialists and other radicals and stop the fomenting of trouble in the United States.

Build Up the Navy

"While these men are in the service, let the merchant marine be built up so that the United States will no longer have to send its products abroad in foreign ships, and give this shipping the protection and prestige of a well-equipped and highly organized navy.

"Let other nations know, however, that America is building for peace and not for war, and that we welcome the inter-exchange of merchandise between countries on a mutual and friendly basis. And further let foreign countries know that in times of war the United States will sell its products to belligerents as well as neutrals, but that our

Miss Dorothy Sternat, Biglervile, entertained a group of her friends at a party Wednesday evening, in honor of her seventh birthday anniversary.

FREED, TAKES LIFE

New Orleans, Sept. 12 (AP)—Julius Caplino, 44, today killed his common law wife with an ax, made an unsuccessful attempt to drown himself in the Mississippi and then flung himself before a moving train and was killed. He had just been released from prison after serving a term for bootlegging.

ROB CITY HALL

Tarrytown, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Two armed men invaded the municipal building today and robbed the village manager of his $700 payroll for the department of public work laborers.

MERCUR REINSTATED

New York, Sept. 12 (AP)—Reinstatement of Fritz Mercur, of Bethlehem, former member of America's tennis "first ten," after a year's suspension for infraction of the amateru rules, was announced today.

LABOR JEERS FORMER LEADER

MacDonald, Sets Rule At Month, In Address In Commons.

London, Sept. 12 (AP)—Embittered Labor members of Parliament launched their attack against the national government's drastic program of taxation and economy Friday in a turbulent session of the House of Commons.

"I am driven to it by national necessity," pleaded Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald in behalf of his economy bill, but his old followers only jeered and taunted him.

Finally the angry flood of debate terminated in a sharp and wordy scene between Nancy Lady Astor, conservative, and Mrs. Leah Manning, labor member from North London.

Urgency Cited

The prime minister justified the imposition of orders in council—characterized by the opposition as approaching a dictatorship—because of the urgency of the financial situation.

But when he said, "I am speaking for labor," an uproar of ironic laughter burst from the opposition benches.

Mr. MacDonald retorted bitterly to his former colleagues who have ousted him from the labor party leadership.

"They can take the label from my back," he said, "but they can not take the label from my mind."

Thomas "Jibed"

J. H. Thomas, Dominions secretary, fared even worse from the labor jibes and at one point it seemed unlikely that he would be permitted to conclude his explanations of the government policy. But "Jim" Thomas stood his ground and finished.

An indication of the length of time the national government may last was given in the prime minister's announcement that orders in council can be issued only within one month of the passing of the economy bill.

FRENCH FAIL TO GREET GANDHI

Hindu Leader Descends Gangplank Clad Only In Loin Cloth.

Marseilles, France, Sept. 12 (AP)—Mahatma Gandhi rolled toward the round table conference in London Friday night in a modest second-class compartment aboard the Bombay-Paris express.

He arrived at Marseilles Friday and was acclaimed only by Indian students and their young French contemporaries. French officialdom sternly avoided him.

The port officials were busy honoring Paul Baynaud, minister of colonies, who set sail for Indo-China—where the French have troubles of their own—and were represented at the Mahatma's steamer only by police.

Since Gandhi is going to England as a sort of government guest, the British consul general was present to greet him. He was the only functionary there.

Rain fell all day, obliging the Mahatma to add a shawl to his loin cloth. When he walked down the gangplank Gandhi wore only the cloth.

GANDHI IN LONDON

London, Sept. 12 (AP)—Mahatma Gandhi arrived in London this afternoon and went directly to the headquarters of the Society of Friends.

Brewer Buys Grain Elevator For Storage

Milwaukee, Sept. 12 (AP)—Purchasing of the Atlas grain storage elevator, with a capacity of 400,000 bushels, was announced Friday by Fred Pabst, president of the Pabst corporation.

Pabst said the purchase was made in the line with his belief that congress by next year will legalize the manufacture and sale of beer. He said it also enables the corporation to buy and store grain during the season when prices are lowest. The corporation's previous grain storage capacity was 700,000 bushels, officials said.

The Pabst corporation last year installed $1,000,000 worth of new equipment for the manufacture of beer, Pabst said.

GRID UNIFORMS TO APPEAR HERE

High School Team Will Practice In Moleskins For First Time.

Football uniforms will make their first appearance on the season on Monday when the Gettysburg high school football squad will don the moleskins preparatory to some "rough" work. This was the verdict of Coach Eugene Martin after the termination of Friday's drill.

The extreme heat of the last few days has forced the high candidates to practice in gym suits and consequently little hard work could be accomplished. However, regardless of the reading of the mercury on Monday, the Maroons will get their first touch of real football.

Coach Martin will be forced to speed up his work in order to have his warriors ready for the opening game which is just two weeks off. On September 26 the Maroons will entertain Waynesboro high on the local field, which will be the lid-lifter to the local football season.

Mad Scramble

Although nine veterans are left over from last year an unusually lievly scramble is being made for varsity berths. Many good looking prospects have developed from last year's reserve list while the rural districts have sent in some fine prospects.

Signal practice was held for the first time on Thursday evening when Coach Martin lined up a team and gave them a few plays. The regular routine of passing, running, kicking and calisthenics has featured each workout.

Scrimmage, always eagerly awaited at this time of the year, will probably make its appearance next week, much depending on the weather. Every man is anxious to show his mettle in actual combat and some interesting workouts are promised.

The squad has been divided into two sections, Freddie Haehnlen again assisting with one squad while Coach Martin handles the reins of the other. About forty-five candidates have been appearing regularly.

VINES, LOTT ARE IN FINALS

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP).—Two sets down at one time and the sets rapidly playing out on him, S. Ellsworth Vines, Jr., lanky Pasadena youngster, proved his fighting heart Friday by coming back to defeat Frederick J. Perry, English ace, in five furious sets and enter the finals of the golden jubilee national tennis tournament.

Vines Begins Erratically

Vines, playing erratically, looked like anything but a future champion as he dropped the first two sets to the debonair Perry, but he recovered himself to play good tennis in the third and then became a whirlwind toward the last. The final score was 4-6, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

The final set saw the crowd of 12,000 in a constant uproar as Vines, increasing his pace, served with terrific speed and drove one placement after another by the wilting Perry. So effective was his play that he ran up a lead of 5-1 in games before Perry checked the ouslaught and won a pair. Then the coast stripling sent over a series of sensational shots that broke Perry's service and closed the match.

Their spectacular struggle recompensed the gallery for Doeg's disappointing showing against Lott. Apparently spent by his hard-earned victory over Frank Shields Thursday, the Newark southpaw gave the Philadelphian but feeble opposition after the opening set. He couldn't hold even his famed cannonball service against the calm, sure-stroking Lott and never looked like a winner. He did not score a single placement in the final set as Lott put on the finishing touches.

STUDY CLUES IN PIRACY STORY

District Attorney Announces His Belief In Tale Told By Man's Wife.

Mineola, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Minute study of clues, hours of patient questioning and painful reenactment of a tragic scene on board the yacht Penquin failed to bring a solution Friday of the Long Island pirate mystery in which Benjamin P. Collings, wealthy Stamford, Connecticut, man, is missing.

The day brought acceptance of the story told by his wife, Mrs. Lillian Collings, and announcement from District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards, of Nassau county, that "fantastic as it seems" he believed it.

Believes Murder Committed

Late in the day, after Mrs. Collings had been grilled for nearly eight hours, Edwards issued a long statement outlining again the story Mrs. Collings had told.

"I am inclined to believe that a murder was committed," he said.

His statement said the four blankets the two men gave Mrs. Collings when they left her in a moored motor boat were "our most important clue. We are trying to trace their ownership now."

At 5 p. m., Mrs. Collings, accompanied by her father-in-law, Dr. H. P. Collings, of Hot Springs, Arkansas, and sister-in-law, Miss Helen P. Collings, left by automobile for Stamford, with the Stamford police chief. Edwards said they would return for further questioning.

"All of them," he said, "have been doing all in their power to clean up what is a very deep mystery."

Father-in-law Indignant

Dr. Collings was indignant at the long questioning of his daughter-in-law.

"They are trying to find something against her," he said, "when they might better be spending their time looking for my son, Ben. Mr. and Mrs. Collings were completely devoted to each other and to their daughter."

CHURCH HEADS HIT HOOVER PLAN

Handling Of Unemployment Attacked For "Incompetency And Ignorance."

Appleton, Wis., Sept. 12 (AP)—The Hoover administration's handling of the unemployment situation was attacked as indicative of "incompetency and ignorance" before the Wisconsin Methodist Episcopal conference here Friday in a report of its social service commission.

The report denounced private and public charity as "the American dole," a vicious and debasing thing, and called on the president to order a special session of congress to provide adequate funds for municipalities and states for relief and public works programs.

Backs Birth Control

In addition, the report asked congress to remove restrictions on the use of the mails so the medical profession could transmit scientifically acquired material on birth control and urged the legislature to make legal provision for public birth-control clinics under strict supervision of the medical profession.

Concerning unemployment, the report said:

"The childish chatter of the administration that 'the American way of life must be preserved' indicates an incompetency and ignorance which borders on the immoral in its evasion of responsibility. Men want food and they must have it, but above all they want the opportunity and privilege of earning their own food. If the administration is not to be accused of criminal negligence, it must give evidence of something more constructive and permanent than has yet come forth."

News From Neighboring Counties

HOME NEAR NEW WINDSOR DESTROYED BY FLAMES

Westminster—Fire, believed of incendiary origin, Thursday afternoon razed the home of David Haines, Hawk's Hill, three miles west of New Windsor, as Union Bridge firemen, hindered by lack of water, stood by helpless. Neighbors succeeded in saving only a few pieces of furniture from the home, a two-story frame dwelling owned by Edgar Koontz, New Windsor. The loss, estimated at several thousand dollars, was partly covered by insurance.

A cushion saturated with coal oil, found on a rocking chair carried from the building, led to the belief that the hosue had been set afire. All members of the Haines family weer away when the blaze was discovered. Residents of the vicinity recalled that another mysterious fire razed the home of Shad Boone, a short distance from the Haines property, several weeks ago.

MARYLANDER IS CROWDED OFF ROAD

Thurmont—Crowded off the Sabillasville-Thurmont road, the small automobile of C. S. Harbaugh, of Sabillasville, plunged into a three-foot ditch and brought up againsnt a tree, badly damaging the car and causing injuries to the driver.

Harbaugh was cut on his face and head by broken glass from the windshield and sustained bruises. The radiator of his automobile was dented and the framework on the right side was bent. A considerable portion of the fender was torn off. However, the motor continued running.

SMITHSBURG MAN IS HELD FOLLOWING RAID

Hagerstown—William Stanley Brown, near Smithsburg, was arrested Thursday afternoon by federal prohibition agents on charges of manufacture and possession of liquor following a raid in the cellar of the Brown home.

The agents reported the seizure of a 50 gallon still, twenty barrels of mash and about 20 gallons of alleged whiskey. Brown was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner D. Angle Wolfinger.

Brown is a brother of George "Ted" Brown, being sought on a charge of murder in connection with the stabbing to death of Lester Shilling at Smithsburg on July 4.

CYCLIST INJURED AS VEHICLE HITS POLE

York—Thrown for a distance of thirty feet when the motorcycle he was riding struck a telephone pole after he lost control of the machine on the Glen Rock road, about three miles from that borough Thursday night shortly after 9 o'clock, T. S. Miller, 22, West York, sustained a ragged laceration to the right side of the scalp, a fracture of the left forearm, and a contusion to the right eye. He was admitted as a patient at the York hospital.

Miller, while attempting to negotiate a turn in the road, is believed to have lost control of his machine, which ran off the road and struck the telephone pole. In the impact he was thrown from the machine for a distance of thirty feet and landed face down in a culvert at the side of the road.

Situation Not So Bad As Pictured

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—Federal officials in close touch with the unemployment situation believe that while the problem of preventing distress next winter is serious it presents no occasion for public alarm.

They are shaping their relief plans on the premise that the number of persons who will need aid during the cold months is considerably less than the total of jobless.

Administration leaders feel there may be more families in need of assistance next winter than last, but are confident they can be cared for adequately and that no one will starve.

Official views on the distress problem were emphasized to counteract what relief leaders consider an overemphasis of the situation which has disturbed the public mind.

Relief officials were basing their plans on last year's experience. They estimate that while the census bureau indicated 6,000,000 were out of work, the number in distress was between 2,000,000 and 5,000,000.

Fifth Midshipman Resigns From Navy

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—A fifth midshipman Friday was "permitted" to resign from the naval academy as an aftermath of escapades in foreign ports.

G. W. Rooney, of Haddam, Kansas, was given his choice between dismissal and submitting his resignation. He chose to resign, and Secretary Adams announced his resignation had been accepted.

Like the four midshipmen who resigned because of similar charges several days ago, Rooney was in his final year at the academy. He is 19 years of age.

Would Help Labor

"As soon as the present economic crisis has passed, allow the enlisted men, then trained in some worthwhile trade or occupation, to be discharged whether they have been in the service for a month, a year or more.

"Such a plan will not harm nor hinder organized labor, but will be an asset to productive enterprises throughout the country."

Mr. Schick declared that the destiny of America lies in the hands of the American legion. "We have been selected by Almighty God for a Divine purpose," he declared, adding that the three Divine messages, given this country, to which the American legion subscribes, are the Declaration of Independence, Lincoln's Gettysburg address, and the preamble of the American legion constitution.

Need More Religion

The speaker pleaded for a deeper religious conviction on the part of Americans, pointing out that without it the United States must go the way of ancient Egypt, Rome and Greece. "When 60 per cent of the people in America completely ignore religion as they do now, this country is in need of more religion," he asserted.

Mr. Schick was applauded frequently during his address, but at no time more vigorously than when he declared that pacifists, communists and prohibitionists should be thrown into the ocean.

Before beginning to speak, Mr. Schick, known as "Daddy" Schick in legion circles, gave an exhibition of drumming which won the approval of the legionnaires.

Dorsey Rebert, commander of the post, presided.

-:- SAM -:-

BY FREEMAN LINCOLN

SYNOPSIS: Peak Abbott, multi-millionaire owner of the Express, and fiance of Sam Sherrill, discovers that Sam is in love with another man. He gives Sam time tochange her mind and go back to Freddy Munson. But Sam, who became engaged to Peak through loyalty to her family's financial and social difficulties, is determined to carry through with the marriage. One reason for the engagement was the elopement of her step-brother, Nelson, and their maid. Sam's stepfather, Fourth Aldersea, is enraged at Nelson's loss of social caste, and also at Nelson's taking away with him the money needed for payment on a mortgage. Fourth lost the family fortune some time ago, and although he maintains his sense of aristocracy, he is reduced to selling books. He has invited a rich widow, Mrs. Frye, to tea with Sam and himself. While he is telling the widow about his invention the front door slowly opens.

Chapter 16

ETIQUETTE REGARDING FISH

On the threshold stood Nelson Aldersea, his hat in his hand, and behind him was the small, and obviously terrified figure of Martha, his wife.

There was absolute silence. Sam realized later that the silence lasted for more than a moment, but at the time it seemed interminable. As seemed to be her habit in times of crisis, Sam noticed small things. She noticed that one of Nelson's shoelaces had been broken and was clumsily knotted together. A button was gone from the left sleeve of his coat. He needed a shave and there were dark shadows under his eyes. It was obvious that Martha had been crying.

"Hello, Nelson." She spoke calmly, as though her half-brother had merely come home from a day at the office. "How are you?"

"Hello, Sam." He nodded gravely. "May I—that is, do you mind if we come in?"

He took a half dozen steps into the room with Martha at his heels. Sam went around behind them and closed the door. Then she turned toward where her stepfather was standing. "Fourth," she said quietly, "Nelson is here. Aren't you going to speak to him?"

Fourth, with his broad back toward her, made no sign that he had heard. He was standing directly in front of Eugenie Frye, and now he began to talk as though he were continuing an uninterrupted conversation. "I could hardly believe it," he said in a loud artificial tone, "but the man was intoxicated, Mrs. Frye. He was hardly able to put two sensible words—"

"Fourth!" Sam stamped her foot. "Don't be ridiculous! Don't pretend that you didn't hear what I said."

"Ah." Fourth turned slowly about and faced the little group at the front door. His normally florid face was a dead white and his Adam's apple was twitching, but he managed a correctly apologetic little bow. "You'll pardon me, Joan, but Mrs. Frye and I were in the midst of an interesting conversation. You were saying?"

"Don't be ridiculous!" Once more Sam stamped her foot. "Here's Nelson, Fourth. Aren't you going to speak to him?"

Fourth's bright blue eyes regarded his son dispassionately, as though Nelson were some not particularly interesting biological specimen. "Seapek to him?" he murmured. "Of course. How are you, Nelson? Thoughtful of you to drop in."

Fourth bowed gravely and, turning his back, once more began to converse with the widow Frye. Nelson looked at Sam. "Something tells me we'd better be going," he said wearily.

"Nonsense!" said Sam hotly. "You're going to stay right where you are. Not only that, but we're going to put an end to all this childishness right here and now. Sit down, Nelson, please. You sit down, Martha, too."

When the pair had seated themselves on the davenport Sam walked over to Fourth. "Fourth," she pleaded almost tearfully, "please don't be so hateful."

"Hateful?" Fourth looked down at her and shook his head sadly. "You asked me to do something, Joan, and unless I'm mistaken, I did it. Is that being hateful?"

"It is, and you know it! You didn't really speak to Nelson. You just said 'how do you do' and turned your back. You mustn't act that way, Fourth. You must talk to Nelson—and to Martha, too!"

"Must I? That's an interesting idea. When I come to think of it, it might be amusing, too." He smiled gently. "I might, for instance, ask Nelson if he is thinking of going in for larceny in a really big way."

"Fourth."

"Yes," Fourth continued smoothly, "that would be an interesting topic to discuss with Nelson, but his wife might be more difficult. It wouldn't be tactful, I suppose, for me to show an interest in her father's business. He shook his head. "That might sound fishy."

"Fourth!" Sam gasped and took an involuntary step backward. Before she could recover herself, Nelson was at his father's side.

"Be careful what you say!" Nelson was blurting fuerously. "Be careful what you say, do you understand? You can insult me all you like, but you'd better not make another remark like that about my wife! If you do, I'll—"

Fourth ignored him. He turned to the widow Frye, who was a frightened huddle in her chair. "It seems a shame," he said to her regretfully, "to bring this delightful visit of yours to an end, but I am afraid the time has come when I had better take you home."

In absolute silence Fourth assisted Eugenie with her coat and then put on his own. Sam, in a sort of daze, was unable to find words even when the widow stood at the threshold on the point of departure. Fourth Aldersea seemed to be the only one who had complete control of his faculties.

"I won't be gone long, Joan." Fourth glanced absently about the room as he prepared to close the door behind him. "You might open a window or two, if you don't mind. It seems stuffy in here. He nodded. "Yes. Just a bit stuffy."

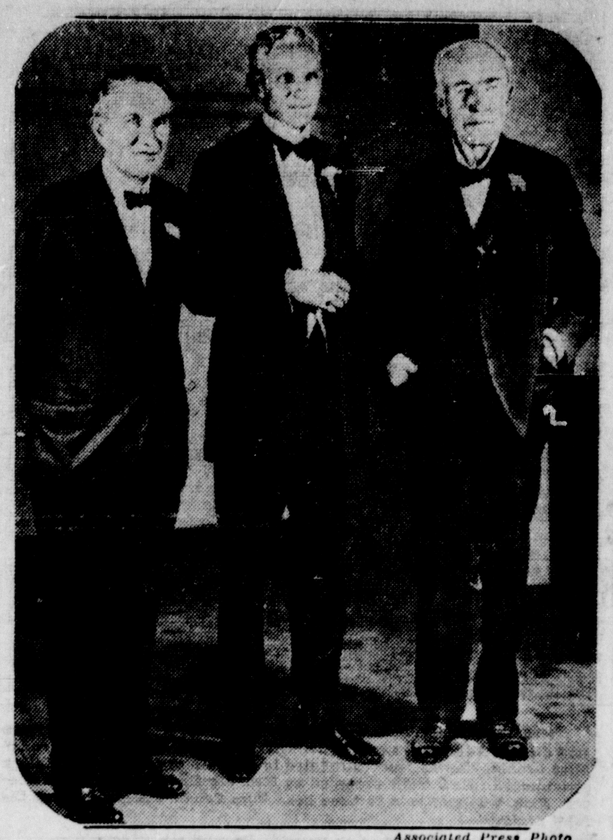

When Fourth returned, three-quarters of an hour later, he found Sam seated alone on the davenport staring stonily at the embers of the fire. She did not look up when he came in, nor did she speak. Fourth took off his overcoat and threw it on a chair. Then he glanced about him, sniffed, and began to pace up and down with long strides.

After a time he stopped in front of Sam and thrust both hands deep into his coat pockets. "My God, Sam," he demanded hoarsely, "what am I going to do? I can't stand this. I can't stand it!"

Fourth leaves the house Monday to commit suicide. Sam can get no news of him.

PROPOSE SALES TAX IN AMERICA

Senator Reed Would Cut Deficit By General Levy On Goods.

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—Two administration Republicans Thursday called for tax revision at the next congress.

Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, high ranking Republican on the Finance committee, advocated a general sales tax of one-half of 1 per cent upon all commodities sold to the public.

Representative Bacharach, of New Jersey, second ranking Republican on the House Ways and Means committee, which originates all revenue legislation, proposed a sales tax on "luxuries and non-essentials"; an increase in rates on incomes of more than $100,000; restoration of the gift tax and a boost in estate tax levies.

These simultaneous declarations, coming from administration leaders in fiscal affairs, assumed added significance in view of the recent word from the White House that President Hoover is studying means of balancing the budget with another billion dollar deficit impending.

Senator Reed, a close personal and political associate of Secretary Mellon, has been in agreement with the cabinet member on revenue legislation for years. The treasury head is known to favor tax revision.

The pronouncements of Reed and Bacharach followed closely a declaration by Senator Watson, of Indiana, the party leader, against tax revision at this time. Democratic leaders, too, have declared against tax increases and in favor of retarding the debt retirement program.

Senator Reed estimated that his universal sales tax, applying to everything sold in the retail markets, would net the government almost two billions annually, or one-half of its total expenses.

Sheriff Refuses To Evict Families

Cleveland, Sept. 12 (AP)—Sheriff John Sulsemann Thursday announced he would evict no more families from their homes during present conditions unless he is assured the associated charities have procured homes for the families involved.

"I know it is illegal and against the law," the sheriff said, "and the courts will issue mandates ordering me to put people out of their homes, but I won't do it."

Woman Accuses Husband Of Tossing Her Into River

Salisbury, Md., Sept. 12—County authorities Thursday were seeking Charles Timmons, of Clara, this county, who late Wednesday night, it is alleged, kidnapped his estranged wife and, according to the story she told the officers, threw her into the headwaters of Wicomico river.

Mrs. Timmons, 20, appeared at the jail early Thursday, her clothing dripping wet and hair disheveled, to reveal the details of the alleged kidnapping. Sheriff Phillips and his deputies went to Timmons' home and there found his abandoned automobile, but had not located Timmons up to Thursday night.

Mrs. Timmons, with friends, was witnessing the performances of a show on East Main street, she informed the sheriff and after she left the theatre she said her husband suddenly seized her and forced her into his automobile.

He drove out Main street to the Municipal park, she said, and stopped the car on a bridge below the city water plant, seized her and threw her off the span into the water.

The water has a depth of about three feet at the point. She made her way out as Timmons drove away, she said.

About a year ago the couple appeared in people's court in litigation over Mrs. Timmons' small brother. At that time they resided in this city, but since then have lived apart, police said.

SEES NEED FOR NEW CONFIDENCE

Cecil Declares France And Germany Must Reach Agreement.

Geneva, Sept. 12 (AP)—Something must be done now, not next year, to switch on the current of international confidence and set the machinery of economic reconstruction in motion, Lord Cecil, British spokesman, told the League of National assembly Thursday.

And that something, he said, is a positive move toward Franco-German reconciliation.

The dominant need of the moment, said Lord Cecil, is to revive international investments.

This must be done, he said, "not in a period of years, but of months, or even weeks," else one country after another will be "forced into some form or other of extended moratoria which may endanger the whole system on which the world's economic life is based, and will be driven again into the chaos which results from demoralized currency."

Disarmament is the obvious goal toward which nations should be bending their efforts, he said, and "no government, least of all my own, tolerate for a moment" any proposal for postponement of the disarmament conference scheduled for February.

Another Scranton Bank Closes Doors

Scranton, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Anthracite Trust company of this city closed its doors Friday. A notice that the state banking department had taken over the institution was posted and a large crowd of depositors gathered outside.

The company had a capital stock of $500,000, a surplus of $400,000, and undivided profits of $152,000, with deposits of $5,000,000.

The Anthracite is the third banking institution to close in Lackawanna county this week.

BULLETS BEGIN FALL TRAINING

Light Rehearsals First Part Of Month Is Bream's Plan.

Two brief lectures by Head Coach Henry T. Bream and Line Coach J. C. Frank, and setting up exercises under a broiling sun, marked the opening of the 1931 football campaign for the Orange and Blue Bullets of Gettysburg college, Thursday afternoon.

Forty-three candidates reported to Coach Bream, Thursday afternoon, after registering for the 100th consecutive college term, received trunks and light jerseys, to be used during the preliminary football rehearsals.

Training Rules

Coach Bream cautioned his men about keeping in condition, adhering to training rules, maintaining the standard of the college and 100 per cent attendance at all practice sessions.

Captain Mike Santaniello headed the list of veterans who returned for the coming campaign.

Coaches Bream and Frank were well pleased with the condition of the men. All showed signs of having spent the summer months at some arduous task, in preparation for the eight-game schedule that faces the Bullets this year.

First Game Away

For the next ten days the men will find the going rather easy, Coach Bream's program calling for only light rehearsals until he can learn from first hand experience just what condition his men are in. This will be followed by some long scrimmage sessions in preparation for the opening tilt with Villanova, on the latter's home grounds, October 3.

The Bullets upset the dope last year by defeating the Stuhldreher-coached aggregation 3 to 0, but only at the sacrifice of Harry Morris and William Stoner. Morris fractured his shoulder, and Stoner injured his knee to such an extent that he was greatly handicapped the rest of the season. Villanova also sustained the loss of two of their star players in this contest.

Love Letters Are Thought To Be Clues

Bernardsville, N. J., Sept. 12 (AP).—A number of love letters said by police to have been found among his effects injected further mystery into the slaying of Police Chief Charles B. Cavanaugh.

Belief that the youthful chief was shot to death in reprisal for his vigorous campaign against bootleggers was virtually abandoned with the discovery of the letters, police said.

The notes, understood to be signed only with an initial, were mailed from Morristown, N. J., and Boston.

Police announced that George Burchell, a private chauffeur, had told county detectives that Cavanaugh went to Boston August 27 and remained there four days.

Governing Gettysburg
is a
Business Proposition!
WHY NOT A Successful Business Man for the Position?

AS a usual thing the successful business man is too much occupied with his own business to devote the necessary time to civic government. I have, however, in response to the urgent insistence of a number of my friends, decided to seek the Republican nomination for Borough Councilman from the Second Ward.

The C. W. Epley Enterprises here in Gettysburg are the best evidence I can offer as to my abilities as an executive . . . . for my initiative . . . . for my constructive qualities. Aside from this evidence my business plays no part whatsoever in my candidacy . . . . I seek this office solely through a desire to contribute towards civic improvement.

In the event of my nomination I pledge myself wholeheartedly to work for the betterment of Gettysburg . . . . Better Streets, more industries . . . . a larger business section . . . . elimination of the mosquito menace . . . . a working sewage disposal plant . . . . in fact, anything and everything that will result in the betterment of Gettysburg.

You Will Not Find My Name On The Ballot

But it very easy to write "C. W. Epley" in the space allotted to me. You can feel assured that in doing so, YOU ARE VOTING FOR A MAN WHO DOES THINGS.

An Evening Thought

It's doing your job the best you can
And being just to your fellow man;
It's struggling on with the will to win,
But taking the loss with a cheerful grin;
It's serving, striving through strain and stress,
It's doing your noblest—that's success.

And from thence he arose, and went into the borders of Tyre and Sidon, and entered into an house, and would have no man know it: but he could not be hid.

For a certain woman, whose young daughter had an unclean spirit, heard of him, and came and fell at his feet:

The woman was a Greek, a Syrophenician by nation; and she besought him that he would cast forth the devil out of her daughter.

But Jesus said unto her, Let the children first be filled: for it is not meet to take the children's bread, and to cast it unto the dogs.

And she answered and said unto him, Yes, Lord; yet the dogs under the table eat of the children's crumbs.

And he said unto her, For this saying, go thy way; the devil is gone out of thy daughter.

And when she was come to her house, she found the devil gone out, and her daughter laid upon the bed.

THE MODERN SUNDAY SCHOOL AT WORK
(From The Literary Digest)

What can be done in training a child in Christian practise is shown in the answers to a questionnaire submitted to children in the third grade of the Sunday school of the Riverside Baptist church, of which Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick is the pastor.

The questionnaire was designed to find out what the children had learned during the year.

One of the answers reads, according to The Church Monthly, official organ of the congregation: "We share our money, but we have not learned to share other things, like giving up our seats."

Other answers include the following:

"We have learned to think about different kinds of people.

"We have learned about unemployment and what lots of people have suffered from it.

"We have learned that the tenement district is different.

"We have learned not always to think of ourselves.

"We have learned that some people don't have enough people to take care of them, like the orphans in Pennsylvania.

"We have learned to share. We shared our fun, like the party we gave to the children from the Spanish Sunday school.

"Some have learned to be polite and to cooperate.

"Our charts have helped us. We don't like to get 'no,' so we work to get 'yes.'

"We have learned lots of things from stories, such as what Jane Addams has done, and Jacob Riis, and Margaret of New Orleans, and Samuel Gridley Howe and Bryan Untiedt."

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

In a number of the eastern states, and particularly in New York city, there are many infantile paralysis cases.

With today's widespread traveling extension of most epidemic diseases is hastened. However, to compensate, our quarantine practices are better than they ever were, health officers closely watch all epidemic diseases and are usually effective in their efforts to curb them.

In order to avoid contracting a disease to which one is both susceptible and exposed, it is essential to know how the disease spreads.

Unfortunately, we do not definitely know how infantile paralysis is spread. We know that it is caused by some living organism, too small to be seen under our most powerful microscopes.

We know also that the virus of infantile paralysis can be found in the intestines, windpipe, mouth, nose and throat of those who are ill.

Also, the virus occasionally can be found in the nose and throat of persons coming in contact with infanitle paralysis sufferers, though these persons need not suffer from the disease.

Those sick, or suspected to be suffering from infantile paralysis, should be strictly quarantined. No one but those attending the patient should be allowed to come in contast with him.

All utensils and other objects that come in contact with the patient should be disinfected.

All homes should be screened and guarded against insects.

Dust should be suppressed, milk should be pasteurized and food articles should be guarded against contamination.

Children should be kept away from crowds.

Common drinking cups should be avoided.

If a child develops suspicious symptoms he should be put to bed and a physician called at once.

Man Sentenced In Slaying Of Child

Ebensburg, Sept. 12—Harry Starchock, 29, of Conemaugh, convicted by a jury in the Cambria county court in May of the brutal murder of Betty Mowry, 6, whose body was found in the attic of his home, was denied a new trial Thursday and sentenced by the court to die in the electric chair.

In passing sentence on Starchock, President Judge John E. Evans told the defendant that he could pass sentence with better grace than on any other murder defendant he ever had before him.

NEW YORK Day by Day
By O. O. McIntyre

New York, Sept. 12.—All summer I've been trying to run down to Great Neck to see Gene Buck. Today I did. There is always a sprinkle of celebrities pattering in at Gene's. Donald Brian, Dennis King, Arthur Hopkins, Sam Harris, Ew Wynn, Charlie King and actor folk that live hard by.

Buck's home is the former estate of a sugar magnate. Ring Lardner calls the drawing room "a dirty dig at the Yale Bowl. Eight huge divans scattered about are almost lost, which gives an idea. Aside from the flow high spirited persiflage, the bathing beach is two blocks away.

Then, too, there are wide verandahs, a solarium, croquet, putting green and an exquisite rose garden. Certainly it would be difficult to find a more superb spot for a day's outing. But I just don't fit in with such suburban delights. I'm not the "teep."

I did kick around in the surf awhile, dropped around the corner to see the widow of the beloved "Tad," did a little sloppy putting, tucked away a whopping lunch and shuold have been satisfied to sneak off to the sun parlor for a nice nap.

But just about this time Gene's gardener came back from town on a motorcycle. I suppose it is a throw back to bicycle days but every time I see a motorcycle I am obsessed with a notion to ride it. All the rest of the guests were enjoying a siesta and this was my chance.

I asked the gardener if he minded if I "took a spin around the block." He was not only strong for it but showed me how to manipulate a few of the gadgets I did not understand. It looked simple enough, so I swung into the saddle, fiddled with the whopple-choke, or whatever it is, and away.

Circling the estate I returned jauntily enough to find my wife had joined the gardener and as I drew up heard her shriek: "Get that idiot off that crazy thing. He can't even turn on an electric light without blowing out the fuse."

—OO—

That immediately aroused the old McIntyre mettle. Tossing her a withering glance, a pressed some go-go hoodus and swish, pop-pop-pop the thing gave a broncho lurch and shot off like greased lightning. Fences, trees and houses flattened out and I opened my mouth to yell "Help" and swallowed about six quarts of air. Something had to be done quickly, for there was a sharp turn ahead. I yanked and twisted at everything in sight and with beginner's luck did something that made the machine slow down.

—OO—

'Twas a narrow squak and I made a mental note then and there that motorcycling was off my list from hence on. Slowly turning around and as slowly moseying back I found that my wife, in white faced alarm, had aroused the entire house and brought them out on the lawn. As I drew near I yelled jeeringly: "I suppose you thought I hadn't enough mechanical sense to run a silly old motorcycle. Then I reached to shut off the juice and dismount and swish, pop, pop, double-pop I was off again, hell for election.

—OO—

The start was with such a swift jerk that when my hat flew off I thought, "Ah, Ah, there goes the old bean!" Scenery flattened out again and telephone poles suggested a picket fence. This was the end. I couldn't have enough more fool luck to stop, but in desperation kept jiggling the what-nots and again it slowed down. But I had no notion whatever how to bring it to a complete stop. One thing certain, a wasn't going back to the house until I could stop dead.

—OO—

So I turned into what looked like the Main Street of Great Neck. As long as I didn't touch any of the dinguses I could run slow like this and be just dandy. About three blocks away—and was I glad?—a motorcycle cop rounded the corner. I rode along side and in a pop-eyed stutter explained: "Officer, I'm in a terrible fix. I can't stop. Every time I try"—and I reached to illustrate. And swish, pop, pop, pop, there I was flying again. He sped after me yelling something in the wind that sounded like "Wampf, wampf ooble oobie wampf!"

—OO—

I was heading for the open country and probably for the Rocky Mountains when there was a despairing rattle and the motor, for no reason, stopped. It's all pretty silly, but for days I'll be afraid to turn anything—even a faucet or a doorknob—for fear it will swish, pop, pop, pop and I'll be off again.

QUESTIONED IN DEATH OF GIRL

Mrs. Bridget Hartigan was questioned by W. A. Humphreys, assistant district attorney, in connection with the death of Catherine Cronin. Miss Cronin, 20, was found strangled to death in the Greenwich Village apartment in New York occupied by Mrs. Hartigan. Police sought her son, Jack, who was said to have been Miss Cronin's companion on the fatal party.

In The Theatres

By Mark Barron

New York—When George M. Cohan is on the stage, it doesn't matter about the play. So the fact that his new comedy "Friendship," isn't a too imposing piece of dramaturgy doesn't matter particularly. It provides a role for its author to perform and so serves its purpose.

Just as one derives pleasure in watching the smooth, finished performances of Alfred Lunt, Lynn Fountanne and Katherine Cornell, so, too, one is enthralled by the impressive, ecortless acting of Cohan.

His playing is quiet, finished—and there is emphasis only where emphasis is needed.

Actors playing with him seem to be imbued with some of his personality, for they always perform in perfect teamwork.

He Puts It Over

Audiences marvel at his work, and they little care for the merits of his vehicle.

"Gambling" was not a great play, but it was a hit with Cohan. The same is true with "Friendship."

In this new comedy Cohan deals with the problem of youth, and forcibly takes the adolescents across his knee and gives them a stinging verbal spanking.

Hs points to their vociferous ideals, yet taunts them because they haven't the courage of their elders in fighting for those ideals.

Lee Patrick must be applauded as the leading woman, and a minor part is creditably acted by Helen Conan, youngest daughter of the author, making her Broadway debut.

On The Racket Front

Owen Davis mounts the pulpit again to denounce racketeers in his new play, "Just To Remind You."

He reveals the insidious clutch these bandits have upon the small business men, and whiy it is almost impossible for the police to stamp them out.

A young laundryman (ably acted by Paul Kelly) determines to refuse ransom to the racketeers.

First, his plant is bombed as a warning. Then acid is thrown on the laundry n his washing machines. He appeals to a magistrate, but he, too, is in league with the gangsters.

He goes to the police commissioner with his problem, and then he becomes too dangerous for the racketeers. He is murdered right in front of a helpless detective.

Paris (AP)—A rubber tired rail car is being demonstrated on a 19-mile section of a branch line near here. The experimenters claim this kind of car can be started and stopped about as easily as an automobile.

TROOPS QUELL CHURCH FIGHT

Governor Of Arkansas Acts To Prevent Further Disorder.

Jonesboro, Ark., Sept. 12 (AP)—Capt. E. E. Eldridge, of the Arkansas national guard, said he had been ordered by Governor Parnell to put martial law into effect here Thursday night to prevent further disorders growing out of a factional fight in the First Baptist church here. Captain Eldridge is commander of the guard detachment at Jonesboro state college here.

The city council, Mayor H. J. Bosler and Sheriff W. R. Nash had asked the governor to declare martial law following a clash between church members and authorities at the city hall Thursday. The clash came after the mayor had refused the request of the Rev. Joe Jeffers, an evangelist, to hold a prayer meeting on the city hall lawn.

Mayor, Police Chief Attacked

In the disturbance Thursday a follower of the Rev. Mr. Jeffers attacked Mayor Bosler when the latter interrupted a prayer service the preacher attempted to hold. Policemen rescued the mayor and the follower then attacked Chief of Police Craig. Order was restored and the crowd dispersed after it was announced the hearing had been continued until Saturday.

Mr. Jeffers had gone to the city hall to protest the arrest of three of his followers on assault and battery charges after a fight at the First Baptist church Wednesday night.

The evangelist, preaching in a revival tent, had assailed the character of Dr. H. S. Heard, pastor of the church. Recently twenty-one members of the Jeffers' faction were dismissed from the church on charges of "disloyalty and failure to stand by the church."

RUSE TRAPS 4 LIQUOR BOATS

300 Cases Of Liquor Seized By Coast Guard Without An Effort.

Cotuit, Mass., Sept. 12 (AP)—The crew of the coast guard patrolboat 910 seized 300 cases of liquor, a fifty-five-foot powerboat, two smaller motorboats, a rowboat and six men early Thursday, simply because the rumners got a little careless in who they asked for cargoes.

The 910 was formerly the rum-runner Tramp. She was converted into a patrol boat, but many of her characteristics were kept inviolate and in the half light of early morning she somewhat resembles her old self.

Just before dawn the 910, in command of Boatswain's Mate R. S. Tuckerman, was lying in the outer channel off Cotuit. The sea was smooth, business had been poor and everything was peaceful.

Then a couple of runners got careless. A motorboat hailed the 910.

"Which side will we load on?" the boat's skipper asked.

"Right over here," the boatswain answered.

And the first of four boats was taken in. A second motorboat and the rowboat repeated the formula, a man was taken off each and the boats tied alongside. Then the Dart, a fifty-five-foot powerboat, came along bent on her morning deliveries.

She hailed the 910, went through the same formula excepting that she wished to unload. The Dart was instructed, and she, too,, was tied up, her crew of three men taken off and the boat with 300 cases of liquor towed to coast guard base 18 at Woods Hole.

'A BIT O' HEATHER FOR MINISTERS' COAT LAPELS

Members of the new British cabinet went into session in London recently wearing sprigs of heather from the Scottish highlands in their coat lapels. Prime Minister MacDonald brought the heather by plane from Lossiemouth and was wearing it when he met his colleagues. Thereupon they asked for a piece as a good luck token. TURN INQUIRY ON DUNNEGAN

Delve Into Career Of State Leader Of Democrats As Appeals Advocate.

New York, Sept. 12 (AP)—A republican-controlled legislative committee turned Thursday to an inquiry into the activities of Senator John J. Dunnegan, of the Bronx, who holds an ex-officio membership on the committee by virtue of his position as senate democratic leader.

The committee, headed by Senator Samuel H. Hofstadter, New York republican, revealed it was delving into Dunnegan's career as an advocate before the board of standards and appeals, which had authority to review bids, examine into the suitability of materials and investigate the reliability of firms bidding for municipal contracts.

Defense of Doyle Questioned

W. Kingsland Macy, chairman of the republican state committee, recently wrote to Dunnegan asking whether he might have a personal interest at stake in his "frenzied" defense of Dr. William F. Doyle, who was jailed for contempt when he refused to answer committee questions regarding his lucrative practice before the standards board.

Muscle Shoals Steers Course Despite Coming Congress Fight

Florence, Ala. (AP)—Threading its way through conflicting theories and proposals, a commission of nine is attempting to devise a plan for operation of Muscle Shoals that will meet with approval of President Hoover and congress.

The commission's task in dealing with its ten-year-old problem has not been smoothed by charges that its deliberations would only muddy the waters for a straight-out fight at the next session of congress between President Hoover and advocates of the Norris legislation.

Added to proposals varying in degree of government ownership and operation has been a suggestion for state ownership and operation.

The value of the nitrate plants at Muscle Shoals for fertilizer production has been questioned.

The commission includes three members each from Alabama and Tennessee, and three named by President Hoover.

The president's representatives are Edward A. O'Neal, of Montgomery ,Alabama, and two army engineers, Col. Harley B. Ferguson and Joseph I. McMullen, both of Washington.

O'Neal, president of the American farm bureau federation, has urged that the federation lease Muscle Shoals for the manufacture of cheap fertilizer.

His 3,000-acre farm is two miles from the big dam.

Colonel Ferguson, a West Pointer with a record of service in several conflicts, has had charge of various rivers and harbors districts. He is a native of North Carolina.

Colonel McMullen, born in Virginia, has had an active military career dating from the Spanish-American war. He was chairman of the commission for adjustment of foreign claims in 1922-23.

The three members appointed by Governor B. M. Miller, of Alabama, after legislative approval of the commission, are Samuel F. Hobbs, of Selma, W. F. McFarland, Florence coal dealer, and William H. Smith, of Prattville.

Hobbs, commission chairman, is an attorney who has been active in political life fo the state.

McFarland's home is within sound of the waters of the Tennessee as they rush over Wilson dam.

For five years he spent much time in Washington in the interest of legislation disposing of the $150,000,000 power plant.

Smith, a modern farmer, is vice president of the Alabama farm bureau cotton association.

Mercer Reynolds of Chattanooga, W. A. Caldwell, Jackson banker, and J. Frank Porter of Columbia, president of the Tennessee farm bureau, were appointees of Governor Henry Horton of Tennessee.

Caldwell, however, resigned with announcement that he had been "reliably informed" that the shoals nitrate plants are absolete for fertilizer manufacture.

In his place was appointed R. L. Moore, banker of Jellico, father of Grace Moore, opera singer and screen actress.

Reynolds' attitude favoring segregation of the Muscle Shoals problem from the Cove creek dam project has subjected him to criticism.

Device Measures Speed Of Hammers

Iowa City, Ia., (AP).—A "piano camera" developed at the University of Iowa enables a musician to get a photographic record of the instrument's exact response.

Each piano hammer is fitted with a paper tab in which a narrow slit has been cut. The camera, with a moving film, is set above the hammers. When a key is struck the hammer moves toward the string and the slit in the paper, passing the camera, photographs as a dot.

At the instant the hammer strikes the string, light falls on the film, making another mark. The hammer's rebound also is recorded.

The camera was devised by Joseph H. Tiffin in collaboration with Dr. Carl E. Seashore, head of the university psychology department.

Bigger Soybean Yield Foreseen

Raleigh, N. C. (AP)—Good yields of soybean hay are secured sometimes without fertilizer, but more profitable crops result from the use of plant food mixtures.

It is a mistake, says Enos C. Blair, extension agronomist at North Carolina State college, to plant soybeans without fertilizer.

"For instance," he said, "M. C. Thomas, of Moore county, made a yield of 4,576 pounds of hay to the acre by applying 440 pounds of an 8-3-3 fertilizer, and an application of the same amount of 8-2-4 fertilizer increased the yield 70 per cent at a Rocky Mount experiment station."

"BEST SHOW" IS DOUBTFUL NOW

Observers Unable To Say Which Will Provide Most Fun, Senate Or House.

By Herbert Plummer

Washington.—It's difficult to tell at this date where the best "show" will be during the seventy-second congress—in the senate or in the house.

Those who frequent the galleries will have a hard time figuring out where to go. There'll be fireworks at both ends of the capitol, what with the close division in both houses and the highly controversial issues on the program.

Heretofore their choice has been a comparatively easy one. The senate offered the chief attraction. Not since the overthrow of "Uncle Joe" Cannon as speaker has the house bulked in the public eye to anything like the extent the senate continuously does.

The reason lay in the difference of rules governing each body.

In the senate a member can start a verbal riot almost any time he chooses. In the house, a representative must obtain unanimous consent before doing such a thing.

As a result nothing unexpected or thrilling was likely to happen in the house. Proceedings could be reasonably well forecast for any day.

Debate was carried on with time divided between the republicans and democrats, and applications for allotment of time had to be filed in advance by members wishing to speak.

Some sort of special rule machinery is necessary in the house. With a membership of 435, a do-as-you-please method of procedure like that in the senate would probably bring disastrous results. Essential measures might never be passed.

But nevertheless, the public generally and the press flock to the senate when they want excitement. Most of the time house galleries sit and stare in bored fashion at what is going on down below. Only a half-dozen reporters or so may be observed in the space built to take care of one or two hundred.

It's different in the senate. Usually the galleries are filled. When something particularly interesting is being considered, the lines outside resemble the crowd at a movie palace.

Only the White House row and the section reserved for diplomats in the galleries are vacant as a regular thing.

It is remarkable how news of a flurry on the floor scatters over the capital. It travels in some mysterious fashion, and within a very short while the public galleries and press action are literally overflowing with people.

The house will probably get its share of the mob in the coming congress. There is a threatened liberation of rules. This added to the close division of membership, the speakership fight, et al. promises to draw 'em back.

GANDHI MUM AT FIRST PARLEY

Mahatma Intends To Observe Silence Rule At Monday's Meeting.

Aboard Steamship Rajputana, at sea, Sept. 12 (AP)—Unless the British government changes the date for the meeting of the Federal Structures committee, which is set for next Monday at London, Mahatma Gandhi will sit through the session listening attentively, but not speaking.

The reason is that Monday is Gandhi's day of silence, and government or no government, he intends to observe it.

On Tuesday the Mahatma will step forward and present his views. During the sittings of the Round Table conference on Indian affairs, he will speak extemporaneously.

"I have prepared no plan," he said Thursday, "no speeches, no arguments and no programs for my stay in England. I shall do everything on the spur of the moment, depending on my inner voice, which means that God will inspire and guide me.

"If England realizes the strength of the Nationalist movement in India, I expect that she will heed our demands; but if, unhappily, she thinks we are in the minority, then I must be prepared to return to India and renew the fight."

Gandhi and Shaukat Ali, with the Begum of Bhopal acting as mediator, reached a basis of understanding on the Hindu-Moslem communal problem Thursday along the lines of the congress formula calling for joint Hindu-Moslem electorates.

SUNDOWN STORIES

AIR DELIVERIES

By Mary Graham Bonner

Peggy and John were thrilled riding along with the milk plane which was carrying the milk to all the air hotels and air schools and other air places.

They did not think they had ever enjoyed any of the trips when the Clock had turned the time ahead more than this.

They loved having the Little Black Clock with them at all times, for he explained everything to them, but it was rather jolly when he let them go off by themselves.

The plane flew along very rapidly and every once in awhile it stopped.

The man in charge of the deliveries pulled a lever and a certain number of bottles and tubes were lifted up from the plane and landed upon an air platform. After making that delivery they flew on to make the next.

How different this was from the old days of milk trains and great cans of milk waiting outside on wooden stands in front of farm houses!

Just traveling in a milk plane seemed a strange enough experience, and after they had finished all their deliveries and were back at the air farm once more John noticed something that made him laugh.

Painted upon the wings of the plane were two pictures—one on each side, and each picture was that of a cow.

"Well," he said to Peggy, "doesn't that seem funny! They have milk planes, and yet they paint pictures of two old fashioned cows on the wings of a plane!"

The man in charge of the deliveries explained:

"We want to let everyone in the air know that our plane is the milk plane so they'll give us right of way!"

RAISES LEVIES TO GET BIG SUM

Snowden Budget Turns Deficit Into Surplus In England.

London, Sept. 12 (AP)—Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, searched the pockets of his countrymen Thursday, taxing rich and poor alike with $202,500,000 in new levies to balance the 1931-1932 budget and restore world confidence in British finance.

His emergency budget, presented to the house of commons, bristled with drastic assessments. The income tax standing rate, for instance, was boosted by six pence (12 cents), which means that every payer of the tax must turn one-fourth of his income over to the government.

The exemption limit for married men will be reduced from $1,125 to $750, and for single men from $675 to $500. Allowances for children will be cut from $300 to $250 for the first child and from $250 to $200 for others.

Those who pay a supertax on incomes will be assessed ten per cent more than at present.

The beer tax is increased two cents a pint. The gasoline tax is increased four cents a gallon. The tobacco duty is boosted sixteen cents a pound and the entertainment tax, covering movie and legitimate theatres, is raised sixteen and two-thirds per cent.

The increased taxation will amount to $405,000,000 for 1932 and 1933.

Economy cuts of $110,000,000 were announced for the present year and $350,000,000 for next year.

With a saving of $68,500,000 on national debt amortization, the new taxes, and other economies, Mr. Snowden declared that Great Britain's threatened budget deficit of $373,395,000 for this year had been eliminated and a $7,000,000 surplus is estimated.

CORRECTION

In making corrections in this week's issue of the New Oxford Item, two linotpye slugs were wrongly inserted. In the advertisement of Oliver G. Sanders appeared the line, "Republican Candidate for Register and Recorder", and in the advertisement of W. H. Stout appeared the line, "Democratic Candidate for County Commissioner". As almost everyone knows, Mr. Sanders is a Democratic candidate for County Commissioner and Mr. Stout is a Republican candidate for Register and Recorder. The Item regrets the errors and hopes no voter will be misguided by the transposition of the linotype slugs.

Washington (AP) — Indirectly, American farmers are consigning every tenth load of their hay to the flames, says Dr. C. A. Brown, of the bureau of chemistry and soils. Farmers allow more than $20,000,000 worth of hay yearly to be destroyed by spontaneous combustion—a process of hating which rsults from improper curing, he says.

Vote for Leo E. Bushman, A Man Adams County Can Be Proud of, For Sheriff

LEO BUSHMAN

Combining the qualifications which make him admirably fitted to faithfully fulfill the office of Sheriff of Adams county, Leo E. Bushman, of Gettysburg, respectfully solicits the support of Republican voters at the primary, Tuesday, September 15.

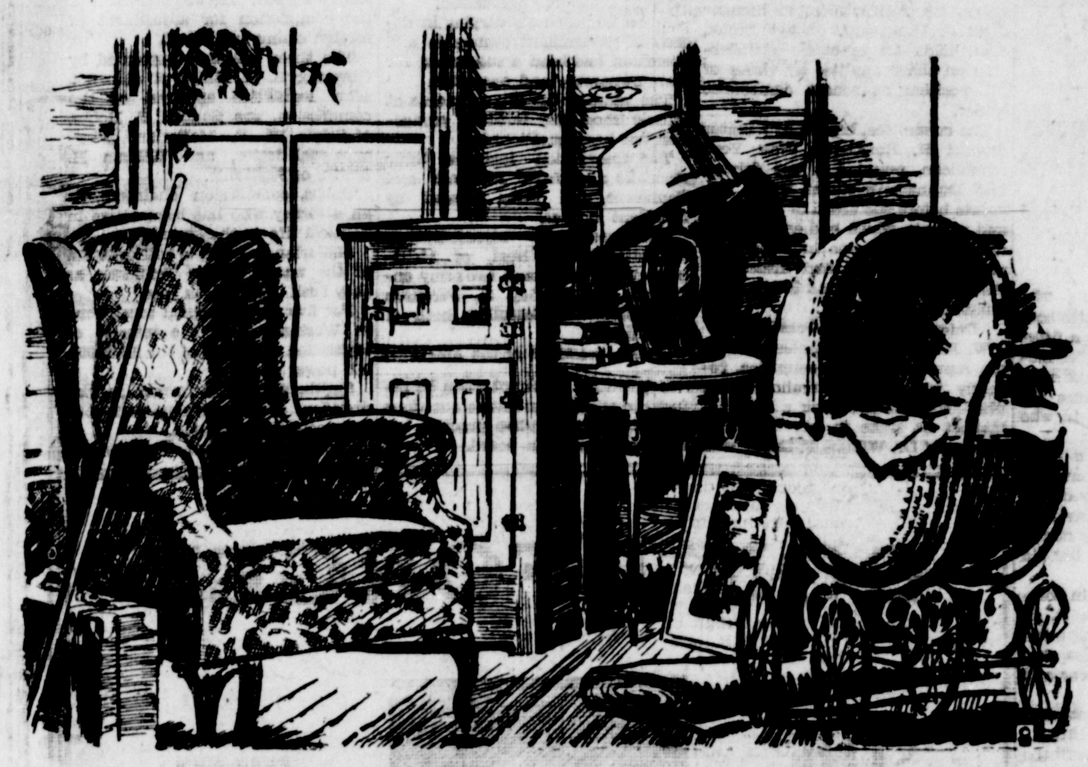

A young, energetic man—he is in his early forties—Mr. Bushman would, if nominated and elected, fill the office of Sheriff in a capable and trust-worthy manner, transacting all the duties of the office himself, insofar as is humanly possible for one man to do the work.

Mr. Bushman has always been a model husband, an up-standing citizen and a good neighbor. He believes in upholding the right and would not condone wrongdoing at the jail while he holds office. He is a firm believer in enforcing the laws which appear on the statute books without fear or favor, and would be fearless in the performance of his duty.

Born in Cumberland Township, Mr. Bushman has always resided in Adams County. He is married and the father of three children, who together with his wife live in Gettysburg. He is a son-in-law of Brady Sefton, and son of William Bushman, Cumberland township.

For several years, Mr. Bushman has been game protector of Adams county, an office which he has filled satisfactorily to those in authority over him at Harrisburg. True, his duty has sometimes made it necessary for him to arrest persons he would rather not have molested, but has always placed duty over personal feelings and violators of the game laws know that Mr. Bushman is always fair in the prosecution of their cases.

His honesty has never been questioned, and both his private and public life have always been above reproach.

Sockless Men Loll In Hotel Lobbies

La Baule, France (AP)—Greater negligee for men as well as women is the keynote of the dressing fad at this resort this summer.

In the smartest hotel lobbies as well as at the casino women in flimsy pajamas, and coatless, neckless and sockless men are the rule rather than the exception.

The women's pajamas range from plain navy blue to brilliant-figured reds and pinks. The men's shirts usually are polo style, in white, red and yellow.

Real clothes are not worn until time for late dinner in the evening.

The rest of the time men and women come and go to the beach from their rooms in the $15 to $20 a day hotels draped in Turkish toweling bathrobes.

Pipes, only a few seasons ago banned in public dining rooms and restaurants if not hotel lobbies, now are smoked everywhere.

Perren W. Rebert

Democratic Candidate for County Commissioner

In selecting candidates for the important office of county commissioner at the coming primary election, September 15, the voters of Adams county should look into the merits of the various candidates who are aspiring for this office. Of the several men seeking the Democratic nomination there is none better qualified than Perren W. Rebert, of Seven Stars. Mr. Rebert is the type of man that you can place the greatest measure of confidence in for he is known for his honesty and sincerity to people in all walks of life. He is not a politician who makes bombastic statements before election and sidesteps them afterward if elected, but a man whose word is as good as his bond. While an ardent Democrat, and a loyal one, he has never before petitioned the voters for any public preference. This is his first time to aspire for public office and from all reports should land a winner at the primaries and then put up a good fight at the general election in the fall.

Mr. Rebert has been a life-long resident of Adams county. He was born and reared here and from early boyhood has been actively engaged in farming, which, work he has carried on successfully for himself for quite a number of years. He knows what it means to economize and save and would be an excellent man to place in the commissioners' office to administer its affairs during the next four years. He is a tried and proven Democrat of the old school and should experience little difficulty in gaining the support and cooperation of the Democratic voters in every section of the county.—Adv.

S. L. Allison

Democratic Candidate For Prothonotary

Experienced, affable and courteous, S. L. Allison, of Fairfield, offers himself as a Democratic candidate for re-election as Prothonotary of Adams county this fall, and unless the signs and portends fail he will be returned to office in much the same manner that he was elected four years ago.

It will be recalled that four years ago, he ran second to Sheriff G. D. Morrison in the number of votes received at the General Election, a splendid tribute to the esteem in which voters of Adams county held him. Even in Republican districts, he ran ahead of his Republican oppoinent.

Possessing the various qualifications which recommend a candidate to the voters, honesty, ability and experience, Mr. Allison combines with these an affable personality which has won him many friends not only among members of the legalprofession here and elsewhere but among the rank and file of citizens who know him in and out of office.

In announcing his candidacy for re-election, Mr. Allison has stated that if nominated and re-elected Prothonotary this year he will not again seek the position four years hence.

Mr. Allison possesses in an eminent degree all the qualifications necessary to a competent transaction of the affairs of the office of Prothonotary, which position he has so ably filed during the past four years. During the tenure of office he has rendered prompt, efficient service to all having dealings there.

He is a man well met, possessing a personality of such nature that men are attracted to him and, as a result, a friendship usually springs up. In every section of the county there are men and women of consequence who speak in the highest terms of Mr. Allison, and this will undoubtedly result in his receiving a large vote at both the primary and general election. Surely his efforts while in office merit this.

Mr. Allison has been a life-long resident of the county, is a successful farmer and promient funeral director of Fairfield. He is a tried and proven Democrat and has always given whole-hearted support to his party. He not only won the election four years ago by a substantial majority, but endeared himself, personally, to the Democrats of the county, who recognize and appreciate the many noble attributes of character, as possessed and revealed by this popular candidate who is seeking the nomination for re-election on the Democratic ticket.—Adv.

Argentina Ranks High In Auto Use

Buenos Aires (AP)—Argentina, which some time ago became the leading foreign buyer of American automobiles, now ranks among the foremost countries of the world in the general use of cars.

A census by the Argentine automobile club shows 345,413 motor vehicles in the country, one for each thirty-three of Argentina's 11,403,500 inhabitants. Only six countries have more motor cars, per capita—the United States, Canada, England, France, Australia and New Zealand.

PINCHOT FIXES CONSTITUTION DAY AS SEPT. 17

Proclaims Date For State Wide Observance Of Annual Anniversary.

Harrisburg, Sept. 12 (AP)—Governor Pinchot today designated the week of September 13 as Constitution Week and September 17 as Constitution Day.

The governor's proclamation follows:

"Pennsylvania is the birthplace of the Constitution of the United States. t is most fitting that the 144th anniversary of the enactment of that immortal document, September 17, 1931, should be observed through constructive study of the document, particularly in the higher grades of our public schools.

"The movement overseas for a 'United States of Europe' was visioned by Benjamin Franklin when, after his labors in the framing of our constitution were ended, he wrote on October 22, 1787, to a friend in Europe:

"'I send you enclosed the proposed new federal constitution for these states. I was engaged four months of the last summer in the convention that formed it. It is now sent by Congress to the several states for their confirmation. If it succeeds, I do not see why you might not in Europe form a federal union and one Grand Republic of all of its different states and kingdoms by means of a like convention, for we had many interests to reconcile.'

"Lincoln in his first inaugural address, said:

"'Continue to execute all the express provisions of our National Constitution and the Union will endure forever.'

"The Constitution represents not only the genius but the fundamentals of our form of government. It was made possible by peaceful compromises. It is a composite of the ideals of our states from the beginning of our Republic to these troublesome days.

"That the young people of Pennsylvania may know and more fully appreciate the form of government under which we live and the destiny toward which we consciously and unconsciously strive, I designate the week of September 13-19 as Constitution Week and September 17, 1931, as Constitution Day.

(Signed) Gifford Pinchot."

To the DEMOCRATS of Adams Co.

I, Abraham C. Keefer, a farmer of McKnightstown, and a life-long Democrat, do hereby appeal to all Democrats of Adams county for your support at the coming Election, for the office of

Clerk of Courts

of Adams County

I come without any apology, hoping I have always proven myself worthy of your consideration.

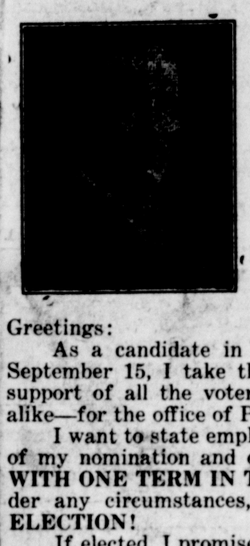

I was born and reared on a farm, educated in the public and select schools of my district. By my earnest efforts, became a teacher in the public schools at the age of seventeen; followed that profession for five years; during that time I also graduated in a Business Course from Northern Indiana Normal school of Valparaiso, Ind.

Having a great ambition to establish a home for myself, I married a farmer's daughter, began farming on the share basis, continued for nine years after which time I purchased a farm for myself and have continued with that occupation, which I feel to some degree a success. I have reared four sons and two daughters, five of whom are now residents and taxpayers of this district.

Having turned the active operations of my farms over to my sons, I would appreciate the opportunity to serve my fellow citizens as your CLERK of THE COURTS, and will assure you that, if nominated and elected, would devote my time and efforts to the conducting of that office to the best interests of the Taxpayers, and at all times do my best to render honest, efficient service to the court, the members of the Bar and to the public.

I have never asked for any public office before, but did have the pleasure to serve as a school director for many years, during which time I served as President of the County Association. I de hereby now submit myself to your consideration.

ABRAHAM C. KEEFER

An Open Letter to Democratic Voters of Adams County

Greetings:

As a candidate in the Democratic primary election September 15, I take this means to earnestly solicit the support of all the voters in our party—men and women alike—for the office of Prothonotary.

I want to state emphatically that if the voters approve of my nomination and election I WILL BE CONTENT WITH ONE TERM IN THE OFFICE and WILL NOT, under any circumstances, BE A CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION!

If elected, I promise to give the office my personal attention and handle the affairs of the office in the best interests and in fairness to all the people.

I have lived in Adams county all my life. As a farmer in Cumberland township, I feel I have attained that limited share of success that a farmer anywhere can hope for. My private life is open to closest inspection and scrutiny and since assuming voting age I have given the very best service I could to the best interests and advancement of the Democratic party.

If nominated in the primary and elected in the general election I will be in a position to take office free of any promises except a pledge to serve honestly and conscientiously all the people and carry on the work of the office of prothonotary in such a manner as to reflect credit upon my party and myself.

YOUR help and support at the poles is most earnestly and sincerely sought to help me attain my ambition of filling the important office of Prothonotary of Adams county for ONE TERM ONLY.

Cordially yours,
WALTER T. MEHRING.

For County Commissioner

F. C. Riley, or Fred Riley as known to his host of friends, is a well known Democrat, born in Freedom Township, where he lived seven years and has called Cumberland his home township for over 53 years. Without inheritance he started out in life and with a gift of not being afraid to work he has acquired the several farms he owns and with good common sense and judgment he has managed to prosper and today he is recognibed by all who know him as specially fitted to take up the work of the management of the affairs of the county as a County Commissioner would be called upon to do. For seven years F. C. Riley was the Treasurer of the Barlow Community Association in his neighborhood and was especially successful in serving his community in ways by which they would secure thousands of dollars of commodities and not a cent was lost in the transactions. He has been Director of the Farmers State Bank of Emmitsburg for ten years and for seven of them he has been Vice President of the Bank. It has been his ability in management that has made him successful in his life work. His aim in announcing his candidacy and asking support and votes towards his nomination as a County Commissioner is for an opportunity to serve the tax payers of the county in such an economical management of the affairs of the County, that thereby the burden of taxation to the public may be reduced. To that result he pledges himself most devotedly.
